FOREWORD

This compilation is intended to be a progress report to those who share this writer's interest in exploring the history of the Holtzländer family (Holtslander, Hultslander, Hulslander, Houselander). The compiler's motive for undertaking this study, about three years ago, was his mother's middle name, the single letter "H," which stood for one of the variant spellings of the Holtzländer surname.

For nearly two years, progress in research on this family was dishearteningly meager. Many persons made helpful contributions to the study, but their knowledge was limited to the recent generations of certain branches of the family. Then, strangely, the compiler began to make surprising discoveries, bringing to light much of the early history of the pioneer and his descendants.

A potent factor of the excellent progress made recently in this research has been the writer's good fortune in establishing correspondence with several others of like interest who already had amassed considerable data and were most happy to share their findings with others.

For the data by which the compiler has established his own descent from the Holtzländer family, he is particularly grateful to his aunt, Mrs. Walter C. Buck, of Dansville, N. Y.

For capable research and for generously sharing data and clues regarding the early history of this family, the writer acknowledges his indebtedness to Mr. Harley A. Hulslander, Titusville, N. J.; Mrs. Victor Hultslander Piggott, Middletown, N. Y., and Commander Herman S. Holtslander, Rodman, Canal Zone.

To all others, whose helpful contributions of information will make possible the eventual publication of a genealogy of this family, the compiler is sincerely grateful.

FIRST GENERATION

J.; removed about 1752 to Town of Montgomery, Orange County, N. Y.; m. June 8, 1747, at St. Michael's and Zion Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa., ANNA MAGDALENA JÄNEWIN (Genvein, Gennin, Genuin).

- ix. Anna Hulslander (supposed), b. _____; m. before 1790, Jacob Sager.

Nicholas Holtzländer was originally of the Roman Catholic religion. His wife, Anna Magdalena Jänewin, was a Lutheran. Although he was listed as a Palatine, a term which is intended to designate a native of Pfalz, there is evidence which suggests that Nicholas may have been a native of the Prussian province of Westphalia. He was undoubtedly related to Albertus Holtzländer, born about 1669, who with his wife and five children visited England briefly in 1709 in a vain attempt to obtain passage to the English plantations in America.

SECOND GENERATION

ADAM F. HOLTZLANDER (Holtslander), b. Oct. 21, 1750, Township of Waterford, N. J.; bapt. Apr. 7, 1751, St. Michael's and Zion Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa.; soldier of American Revolution; was living in 1833, Town of Groveland, Livingston County, N. Y.; m. _____.

Children, several, of whom:

- i. Adam Holtslander, b. 1783, Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y.; d. Feb. 27, 1872, Mt. Morris, Mich.; m. 1808, at Mt. Morris, N. Y., Elizabeth Sasha ("Betsy"), b. ca. 1787; they removed to Mich. in 1849; had a large family, of whom three daughters and five sons were living in 1872.
- ii. Joseph Hulslander (supposed), b. _____; m. _____, b. ca. 1795(?); had children, including at least three daughters born after 1825; living in 1840, Groveland, Livingston Co., N. Y.

Papers relating to the Revolutionary War service of Adam F. Holtslander are contained in Pension Application File No. S 5564, National Archives, Washington, D. C.

In his pension application, Adam stated that he was born in the Town of Waterford, New Jersey, October 21, 1750. This birth date is also given in his baptismal record at St. Michael's and Zion Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa. He said that he had in his possession a prayer book in which his date of birth was inscribed by his father. He was living in Shamokin, Pa., in June, 1778, when he was called into service for an emergency tour of duty for one month, guarding the frontier. At the end of the month he returned home, but soon afterward the region was invaded by the enemy under Brandt and Butler, and the settlers were forced to flee.

Adam then removed to the Town of Warwick, Orange County, N. Y., where he soon went into service again for one month, this time as a substitute for Thomas Bennett, serving in the Town of Minisink under the command of Capt. Calvin Shepard. He then settled in the Town of Wallkill, which was then in Ulster County, N. Y., but was later set apart to Orange County. On April 1, 1782, he enlisted for nine months in an infantry company commanded by Capt. Andrew White, in a regiment which was under the command of Col. Frederick Weissenfels. In the census of 1790, Adam was listed as residing in the Town of Warwick, Orange County, N. Y. Before 1800, he removed to the Town of Groveland, Livingston County, N. Y., where he was living when he was granted a pension in 1833.

In the signature of Adam F. Holtslander, it is interesting to note that the surname appears to be spelled "Holtzlander" rather than "Holtslander." His son, Adam, employed the "Holtslander" spelling.

William Faulkner in the Second Regiment, Ulster County Militia, under Col. James McClaghry. In his deposition he stated that he was born in the Town of Montgomery, Orange Co., N. Y., in 1759. After residence in the Towns of Wallkill and Crawford, he removed to Dryden, Tompkins Co., N. Y., in 1835, where he resided when his pension was granted in 1836.

- xi. Sarah Holtslander, b. July 7, 1800; bapt. Brick Ch., Montgomery, N. Y. Was she the Sally Holtslander

who m. Mar. 17, 1822, Tarturis Cudney, at Hopewell Ch., Thompson Ridge, N. Y.?

Susan Holtslander (vii in the foregoing record) may have been married previous to her marriage to William McLean. She may have been the Susannah Hulslander who married Abraham Mould, Jan. 12, 1808, at Shawangunk D. R. Church, at which time she would have been less than fifteen years old. On the other hand there is a possibility that a child of John Hulslander, who was recorded as "Lucy," was intended to be "Susie" (for Susannah). If "Lucy" was the one who married Abraham Mould, she would have been eighteen at the time. No doubt there are other possible ways to account for the 1808 marriage. One thing is certain: Susan Holtslander who married William McLean was the daughter of Albertus and Catherine. Her birth date as given in the McLean family records was Mar. 12, 1793, which agrees precisely with the Wawarsing record of Susanna. Moreover, she named a child Albert, after her father, and another one Catherine Hulslander, after her mother.

All of the children in this record of the family of Albertus and Catherine (Tice) Holtslander, with the exception of Henry, are listed in a recent genealogy of the Tice family. (The Tice Families in America: Theis, Thyssen, Tyssen, Deis, by James Strode Elston; The Tuttle Publishing Company, Inc., Rutland, Vermont: 1947. Page 84.) Elston relied heavily on the Montgomery and Wawarsing baptismal records, but overlooked the 1790 and 1800 census records which indicate the presence of another boy in the family. Elston identified Johan Jury Tice and Catharina German as the parents of Catherine (Tice) Holtslander, but the present compiler doubts the correctness of this identification. Incidentally, Elston favored the "Houselander" spelling, although he listed, as variants, Holslander, Haltzlander, Holtslander, Hulslander, Hultslander and Huyslander.

SUSANNA HOLTSLANDER (Hulslander), b. ____; dau. of Nicholas and Anna Magdalena (Jänewin) Holtzländer; m. (before 1785)
LAWRENCE TEARS (Tiers).

They had issue, of whom:

- i. Annatje Tiers, bapt. Apr. 29, 1785, Brick Ch.,
Montgomery, N. Y.
- ii. John Tiers, b. May 16, 1787; bapt. May 22, 1787,
Brick Ch., Montgomery, N. Y.
- iii. Polly Tiers, b. Aug. 5, 1792; bapt. Brick Ch.,
Montgomery, N. Y.

Note: Charles Tears, b. ca. 1790, a farmer in the Town of Mamakating, Sullivan Co., N. Y., in 1850, may have been a child of Lawrence and Susanna (Holtslander) Tears. Charles and Mary Tears had a son Lawrence, b. ca. 1814.

SECOND GENERATION (CONCLUDED)

ANNA HOLSLANDER (Hulslander) (Ann), b. ____; (supposed) dau. of Nicholas and Anna Magdalena (Jänewin) Holtzländer; m. (before 1790) JACOB SAGER.

They had issue, of whom:

- i. Elizabeth Sager, b. Nov. 28, 1790; bapt. Brick Ch., Montgomery, N. Y.
- ii. Anne Sager, b. Feb. 3, 1793; bapt. Shawangunk D. R. Ch., Ulster Co., N. Y.
- iii. Abraham Bruyn Sager, b. Nov. 3, 1796; bapt. Shawangunk D. R. Ch.
- iv. Catherine Sager (Caty), b. June 19, 1798; bapt. Shawangunk D. R. Ch.

Although it is probable that Anna Holslander was a daughter of Nicholas and Anna Magdalena, it would be possible (but not likely) that she was a child of Adam Holtslander.

It is hoped that additional family, church and civil records will be found which will remove the uncertainties, resolve the contradictions, and fill the gaps of this admittedly incomplete and imperfect record of the first two generations of Nicholas and Anna Magdalena (Jänewin) Holtzländer.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS

Page 1. The full name of Adam Holtzlander (b. 1750) was Adam Fuchs Holtzlander. He was named for his godfather.

Page 2. It now appears that the family of Adam Holtslander removed from New York to Michigan about 1858, instead of 1849 as stated.

Page 5. Anna Holtslander, b. Aug. 17 (or 13?), 1784; bapt. Sept. 26, 1784, Brick Ch., Montgomery, N. Y.; d. Feb. 22, 1857; bur. Wurtsboro, N. Y.; dau. of Albertus and Catherine (Tice) Holtslander; m. Feb. 12, 1807, at Hopewell Presb. Ch., Thompson Ridge, N. Y., Darius Cudney, b. ca. 1783.
